

Our trading-table rules

- I trade only my approved cards, one for one.
- I can say no, keep a card or take a break.
- I ask before touching and explain any damage.
- We both say yes; the helper checks and records the swap.
- New cards stay separate. No trading them again today.
- Either child can ask the helper for a trade-back until 16:20.
- No money, promises, pressure or adult–child swaps.
- If something feels wrong, I stop and ask for help.

New swaps end: 16:05. Trade-back requests: by 16:20. Collection: 16:30. Helper's name:

Schedule and family invitation

Text for parents

We're planning a 90-minute Pokémon card swap for six to eight children, using the example times 15:00–16:30. Please select up to 20 cards with your child that they own and may trade. Keep treasured, valuable, borrowed and uncertain cards at home. Trading is optional and supervised, one card for one card, with a maximum of three swaps per child. Either child may request reversal until 16:20; received cards stay separate and cannot be traded again today. Please stay until that check is finished. Tell us before the event if you cannot. No cash or adult–child swaps. Please confirm permission and read these rules with your child.

Event date and place: _____. Parent contact and permission: _____.
Organiser and contact: _____.

Time	Activity	Host's job
15:00–15:10	Arrival and approved-card check	Confirm family permission and label containers.
15:10–15:20	Rules and a practice swap using scrap paper	Practise saying no and requesting a trade-back.
15:20–15:40	First trading period	Check each agreement before cards move.
15:40–15:50	Break; cards put away	Offer a first check for regrets or confusion.
15:50–16:05	Second trading period	Stop new swaps at 16:05.
16:05–16:20	Review and trade-backs	Resolve requests before the deadline.
16:20–16:30	Final check and collection	Show families the slips and pack belongings.

Proposed house rules. Not official Pokémon rules; not field-tested.
